NETby Raffaello Galiotto Design for Nardi*

NET is a fiber-glass resin monocoque painstakingly punched with a pattern of square and rounded slots, which are evenly distributed over the three-dimensional surface of the seat. The decorative mesh of the body appears matt, slightly rounded and extremely pleasant to touch. nardigarden.com

FAROby Ryosuke Fukusada and Rui Pereira*

Faro is a small fireplace that can be placed either indoors or outdoors, through the use of an ethanol burner. The designers wanted to explore a different way of using this fire source, bringing it closer to a traditional woodstove. The user may also choose to use wood instead of ethanol when using it outdoors. ryosukefukusada.com

NOMAD POUFSby Monica Armani for Tribu*

Tribù's new collection of ottomans is called Nomad. As with nomads, these poufs will wander throughout your garden or terrace, serving different functions at any given moment; footstool, side table or additional seating. Designed by Monica Armani, these multifunctional islands of soft seating are given a harmonious and waving form. tribu.com

CIELby RH Modern*

The Ciel collection brings the feeling of modern, casual and light indoor living to the outdoors. The purposeful tensions between both the hard and soft detailing, and an attentive control of the negative and positive space of each piece, make the collection a rarity in outdoor teak furniture.
